Eyes and Feet

If mothers would give the attention and watchful care to children's eyes that is given the feet, eye strain and other vision defects would be detected and corrected. Specialists find that nature works to perfect the eye, when assisted by properly fitted glasses; children often outgrow their trouble and discontinue wearing glasses at the age of 16 and 18. Take the children to a thoroughly reliable optician. The expense is slight.

TO ATTACK AT "BACK DOOR"

Movement Means Possible Revival of Allied Activity at Saloniki.

(By David Lawrence.)
(Copyright, 1918, New York Evening Post.)

Washington, July 12.—While folks generally have been wondering about what the United States would do in a military way to help Russia and get at Germany's back door, another movement to harass the central powers from behind is slowly being organized in this country. It means a possible revival of allied activity at Salonika and conceivably the use of former subjects of Austria-Hungary on the Italian front.

President Wilson by signing the $12,000,000 army appropriation bill this week gave official approval to what may eventually prove an effective penetration into the Austrian empire, the collapse of which so many observers have come to believe will bring about the fall of the present government, too.

How Legion Is to Be Raised.
This proposal as embodied in law today is self-explanatory, and reads: "Under such regulations as the president may prescribe, a force of volunteer troops in such unit or units as he may direct may be raised, to be composed of Jugo-Slavs, Czech-Slavs and Ruthenians (Ukrainians) belonging to the oppressed races of the Austro-Hungarian or German empire, residents in the United States, but not citizens thereof or subject to the draft. Such force shall be known as the Slavic legion or such other description as the president may prescribe."

"No man shall be enlisted in it until he has furnished satisfactory evidence that he will faithfully and loyally serve the cause of the United States and that he desires to fight the Imperial governments of Germany and Austria-Hungary. The force so raised and duly sworn into the service may be equipped, maintained and trained with our own troops or separated as the president may direct and thereafter may be transported to such field of action as the president direct to be used against the common enemy in connection with our own troops or with those of any nation associated with the United States and the several items of expenses involved in the equipment, maintenance, training and transportation of such force may be paid from the respective appropriations herein made or for many subsequent appropriations for the same, provided that American citizens of Austrian or German birth, or who were born in enemy alien territory, who have passed the necessary examination and whose loyalty is unquestioned, may, in the discretion of the commander-in-chief of the army and navy, be commissioned in the United States army or navy."

Various estimates are heard as to the size of the army that can be raised, but those behind the scheme believe that from 350,000 to 500,000 men can be enlisted in the Slavic legion in the United States alone. Undoubtedly many more will be added from those

A SONG FOR JULY 14—BASTILLE DAY IN FRANCE
Tune: "La Marseillaise."

Ye friends of France, allied in battle,
Now sound again your clarion call;
Men shall not be as kaiser's cattle,
But freedom shall be shared by all!
Yet, freedom shall be shared by all
And all shall realize its glory.
We do not share the bloody fight
For any mean or narrow right,
But all for all shall be our story!
For all! for all! ye brave,
Whose eyes and swords are wet!
March on! march on! march on to save!
For Right shall triumph yet.

Ye friends of France now joined together,
Whose hands are linked across the sea,
Who stand the stress of war's wild weather,
And proudly hold your banners free!
Yea, proudly hold your banners free
On every field and tower and steeple.
Their flame shall brighten all the sky
And earth remain, where they shall fly,
A heritage for all the people!
For all! for all! ye brave!
Ye high of heart and mind!
March on! march on! march on to save!
For France and all our kind!

resident in England, France and Italy, so that in effect the oppressed peoples of Austria-Hungary will be mobilized in an actual fight for liberty and independence. Their own people undoubtedly will surrender in great numbers if the Slavic legion ever is able, in cooperation with the armies of the entente, to get close enough to them.

As compared with the proposals for military intervention in Russia, the plan to organize the Slav exiles has the merit of being in harmony with the wishes of the oppressed races of Austria-Hungary themselves. American policy itself has undergone a radical change in this respect since the beginning of the war.

At first the United States indicated that it did not approve the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian empire, and President Wilson's speeches made this very plain. But the unwillingness of that course was demonstrated when it became known that the movement for liberty and independence in Austria-Hungary was growing rapidly and the people themselves were in sympathy with the aims of democracy in the present war.

Secretary Lansing's approving message, apropos of the congress of representatives of the Slavic nations at Rome, recently, marked the turning point in our policy. The army appropriation bill just signed puts into law what the secretary of state expressed on that occasion.

In Logical Sequence.
What has happened is that the United States, following logically its declaration of war on Austria, has now decided to use all the forces at its disposal to make inroads into the Austrian empire, with the hope of ridding the world of militaristic regime that connived with Germany to start the present war.

Under previous laws aliens could not be commissioned in the United States army, but the new measure makes a conspicuous exception, proving how anxious the United States is to organize an effective army of Slavs to help in the world-wide crusade for the liberation of small nationalities. Details of the organization and movement of troops will, of course, be withheld, but it is worth noting that the president can transfer the army to any field of action he chooses. This can mean the Austrian front, as the Italians are anxious to have the Jugo-Slavs to help them, as are the Serbians. Furthermore, the Czech-Slovaks now in the Austro-Hungarian army may be reinforced by their brethren in the United States.

Military intervention in Russia still may be in the process of discussion, but military intervention in the Austro-Hungarian empire already has been determined upon by the United States, and from now on will be put into actual operation.

All this should have a cumulative effect as Austria's international troubles multiply, and the month approaches when a decision in the world-war must come.

HAWAIIANS PLEDGED FEALTY TO AMERICA

Secretary Lane Returns From Island With Picturesque
Story of Unity.

Washington, July 12.—A new and picturesque story of America's unity in the war was brought from Hawaii to day by Secretary Lane. While in the islands he was asked by the natives to represent the United States in a ceremony for the pledging of fealty, the first time the Hawaiians ever performed their ancient rites for this country.

Standing in a beautiful grove of Poinciana trees Mr. and Mrs. Lane were presented with fruits of the islands by different groups from all classes of society. First came the princes of the royal family, wearing the garlands of yellow feathers, which are the sign of royalty. Then came warriors, fishermen, farmers and other people carrying brilliant tropical flowers and fruits which they gave the secretary emblematic of placing the resources of Hawaii at the disposal of the United States.

Draft Men Mobilized.
Secretary Lane's visit was marked also by other demonstrations of loyalty, perhaps the most significant being an unheralded mobilization of men under the draft law. Mr. Lane had gone into the mountains to investigate some government land leases arrived unexpectedly as the young men were being assembled for a farewell banquet. They included Hawaiians, Japanese, Chinese and Filipinos. Inside the banquet hall Mr. Lane found huge placards, "Save the Wheat, Sugar, Fats," and other food administration pleas interspersed with exhortations to invest in war savings stamps.

Announcement that the United States had opened to homesteaders about 100,000 acres of lands now under lease has created great enthusiasm in the islands. Many young men going to war are planning to return and take up sugar, pineapple or grazing lands, as they will be given preference under Secretary Lane's plans for assisting returned soldiers to settle on cut-over lands in this country and government lands in the islands.

RUMANIAN PEASANTS IN PRECARIOUS PLIGHT

Food and Clothing More Scarce
Than at Any Time Since Little Nation Entered War.

(Associated Press.)
Paris, July 12.—Rumania's peasant population is in a more precarious condition than at any time since Rumania entered the war. Reports reaching the Associated Press from authoritative sources indicate that all crops this year are failures.

The crop of corn which in normal times is the great national staple, probably will yield less than one-twenty-fifth of the usual annual yield. Of wheat, maize and other cereals there is only sufficient to feed one-tenth of the population.

What little food there is has been requisitioned by the Germans. The bread ration has been reduced further and amounts to less than half a pound daily.

Factors Responsible.
The crops in Besarabia are uncertain and are in almost as poor a condition as in Rumania. Owing partly to neglect and partly to lack of labor,

If the Germans expect any food from this wasted territory, the reports conclude, they can have only the slender hope of better crops next year. For the present Germany will get only a mouthful.

Philadelphia, July 12.—A nationwide search was instituted by government agents yesterday for the apprehension of Grover C. A. Bergdoll, wealthy aviator and well-known automobile racer, who is wanted by the federal authorities here on a charge of evading the selective draft law.

Bergdoll, in a letter to a local newspaper, which was turned over to United States District Attorney Kane, proposed that he be permitted to return without prosecution and allowed to join the aviation forces. The letter, dated July 8, was mailed on an Erie railway train which left New York on July 10.

Bergdoll's mother was today held in bail by a federal commissioner on a charge of aiding her son to evade the draft regulations.

Bivens' condition is not considered as serious, however. Federal officers believe that Bivens was shot by men who feared that he was going to inform the officers of the location of a distillery.
